THE ALLIANCE FOR SUSTAINABLE COLORADO HIRES DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR, RICK BLAUVELT

DENVER, June 19, 2007 – The Alliance for Sustainable Colorado, a leader in the movement to build a sustainable future for Coloradans, announced today that Rick Blauvelt has been appointed Development Director for the organization.

In his new role, Mr. Blauvelt will lead efforts to earn donor, foundation, corporate and general community support for the Alliance and its programs to advance environmental, economic and social sustainability in Colorado for present and future generations

Mr. Blauvelt brings 30 years of management experience in the corporate and non-profit sectors to the Alliance for Sustainable Colorado — including seven years in development with Etown, Inc., Community College of Denver, and “I Have a Dream”® Foundation of Boulder County. He also spent several years at Marriott International, Inc. and ran his own management company.

“We are thrilled to have Rick join the Alliance team,” said Jeanne Beaudry, Executive Director of the Alliance for Sustainable Colorado. “He brings a breadth of experience in nonprofit development, and has a track record of success that will help us continue to expand our outreach and grow our programs.”

About The Alliance for a Sustainable Colorado

The Alliance for Sustainable Colorado, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, was created in 2004 to advance sustainable policies in Colorado for present and future generations. The organization fosters relationships that build collaboration and coalitions among nonprofit organizations, socially responsible businesses, local government agencies and academia. The Alliance for Sustainable Colorado owns the Alliance Center, which is a “Multi-Tenant Nonprofit Center” that provides office and meeting space to 30 nonprofit organizations and non-tenant partners. The Center is mission-driven, housing groups that advocate for development of policies and implementation of practices of sustainability.
